

Barry & Krickbaum to Andrew Jackson, Jr., February 9, 1837, from Correspondence of Andrew Jackson. Edited by John Spencer Bassett.

BILLS FOR REFURNISHING THE HERMITAGE.

Philadelphia, February 9, 1837.

Account signed by Henry Toland.<sup>1</sup>

<sup>1</sup> Henry Toland, a Philadelphia merchant, bought many things for Jackson, as furniture for the Hermitage, and wines for the White House. This consignment was intended for the reconstruction of the Hermitage, and it indicates the style in which it was furnished. In some respects it appears to be the same furniture that one sees in the mansion at this time, most of it handsome mahogany. Writing to Jackson Feb. 9, 1837, Toland said he had consigned the furniture to Maunsel White, Jackson's New Orleans factor, with instructions to send it up the river to the Hermitage.
